The Roots of HAIL

• Place-based inter-sectoral institutions:
  • ‘Anchor Institutions’ – US – hospital privatization
  • Area-Based Initiatives – UK – joined up policy
    » e.g., New Deal For Communities (1998-2010)
  • Urban Development Agreements – Canada

• UDAs – tri-level formal partnerships to address ‘wicked’ problems
  • Five procedural attributes of the partnership: a) resource sharing, b) leadership, c) community involvement, d) mutual learning, e) horizontal accountability

Purpose

• Take on BIG issues – (“don’t get caught up in the weeds”)

• Provide leadership on tough, community-wide, “upstream” issues

• Act and think locally, but with multi-level focus: demonstration projects, then scale

• Build relationships (“knowing everyone will help each member”)

• Stay the course – long-term commitment needed to address complex issues
Be Careful

• HAIL should not become a “Shadow Council”
• Different frameworks of member organizations
• Balance self-interest of organizations with need to address community-wide issues
• No letterhead – would put HAIL in jeopardy
Guidelines for HAIL Issues

• Institutions have impact beyond their own walls
• Improves conditions in neighbourhoods / community
• Advances mission of institutions
• Issue requires effort of multiple institutions to have success
• Initiatives are scalable
• Broad goal of healthy community
• Be able to measure change
Process

• Strong support and priority across membership for HAIL (not to mention sense of optimism and excitement)
• Demonstrate progress: Work between meetings
• Learn to tell a good story about what’s happening
• Small number of projects, 2-3 Maximum. Consider Scalability
• Meetings should be substantive – no updates

Community Hubs

- Support across members, provincial directives were still in development
- Strong alignment with Mohawk College Access strategy
- Health – Move toward community urgent care/community primary health care ("hub and spoke model")
- Police – Aligns with community policing. Programs only, not dedicated space.
