The Social Responsibility and Responsiveness of the University in the 21st Century

Cases from the Magna Charta Observatory

Living Values Project Initiative

Editor: Emeritus Professor John L. Davies

Contents

Foreword
Patrick Deane

PART 1: THE BACKGROUND TO THE STUDY

1 Introduction to the Study and its Place in the Magna Charta Profile
David Lock and John L. Davies

PART 2: THE CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK UNDERPINNING THE STUDY

2 The Self-Responsibility of the University: Historical-Philosophical Notes
Giga Zedania

3 The Idea of Academic Responsibility
Chris Brink

PART 3: THE EVIDENCE FROM INTERNATIONAL CASES

Crisis-Driven Responses

4 Vasyl' Stus Donetsk National University, Ukraine: Responding to a War-Induced Crisis and the Associated Staff and Motivational Issues: A Displaced University in Ukraine
Illya Khadzhynov, Tetiana Orekhova, Olha Doronina, Hanna Sereda

5 Wrocław Medical University, Poland: A Value-Based Response to the Migration Crisis Following the Outbreak of War
Agata Strządała

6 Mykolas Romeris University, Vilnius, Lithuania: Provision of International Support to the War-Affected Ukrainian Peoples
Nomeda Gudelienė, Dangis Gudelis

Contents

PART 3: THE EVIDENCE FROM INTERNATIONAL CASES (CONTINUED)

Long-Term Social Engagement Initiatives

7 American International University–Bangladesh: Targeted University Engagement Activities in Impoverished Communities
Carmen Z. Lamagna, Farheen Hassan, Nazia Farhana, Carlin Z. Lamagna, Rezbin Nahar

8 Technological University Dublin, Ireland: Community Engaged Research and Learning
Catherine Bates, Mary Deasy

9 University of Tetova, North Macedonia: The Role of the University in Addressing Societal Bullying in Schools
Sheruze Osmani Ballazhi, Vullnet Ameti, Agon Memeti, Fitore Bajrami Abdi

A Perspective from a Particular Continent: Latin America

10 Responsive and Responsible: The Evolving Role of Latin American Universities in Society
Iván F. Pacheco

PART 4: INTERPRETATION, SYNTHESIS AND GENERAL LEARNINGS FROM THE CASES

11 Comparative Thematic Analysis: Emerging Good Practice in the Management of Social Responsibility and Social Responsiveness
John L. Davies

PART 5: POSTSCRIPT

12 Conclusion and Final Reflections
John L. Davies

About the Authors